

UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA INSTITUTIONAL LOAN PROGRAMS

The University of Oklahoma administers several institutional loan funds, which are available to students who wish to apply for funds from sources other than the Federal government to help meet college costs. Below are summaries of the eligibility requirements for each loan program. Complete loan terms are contained in the Promissory Note that borrowers must complete prior to disbursement of loan funds. Each of these institutional loan programs requires a co-signer. For all institutional loans, repayment of both principal and interest begins the fourth month after the student is no longer enrolled at least half-time at the University of Oklahoma. Students have up to 6 years to repay the loan. For detailed repayment information, contact the Loan Accounts Receivable Office, Room 208, 1000 Asp Avenue, Norman, Oklahoma 73019, (405) 325-5876. Institutional loans are not eligible for consolidation with the Federal Perkins Loan or the Federal Family Education Loans (Federal Stafford Loan and Federal PLUS Loan).

NOTE: If one of your parents co-signs an institutional loan and subsequently applies for and is denied a Federal PLUS Loan, your institutional loan may be reduced or canceled.

LEW WENTZ MERIT LOAN

The Lew Wentz Merit Loan Program was established by the Lew Wentz Foundation to offer loans to students from middle-income families who require financial assistance from sources other than the Federal government's need-based programs. Preference in awarding this loan is given to students demonstrating academic merit. Students must be enrolled full-time to receive this loan. Students may borrow up to $5000 per academic year at five (5) percent interest. Interest accrues on the principal while the student is in school and a yearly interest payment is required and due by July 1 each year the loan is outstanding. Students who earn a 4.00 grade point average during a fall or spring semester of a loan period will have the interest waived for that semester. An aggregate maximum of $20,000 may be borrowed during a student's academic career.

ROBERT B. LEWIS COMPUTER LOAN

The Robert B. Lewis Computer Loan Program was established by the Lew Wentz Foundation to offer loans to full-time students to assist in the purchase of a computer for use in their degree program. The loan was originally named the Lew Wentz Computer Loan Program and was renamed in 2006 to honor the longtime Alumni Trustee member of the Lew Wentz Foundation.

Students may apply for a one-time loan for up to $2500 to be disbursed in one lump sum at the beginning of the semester for which the loan is awarded. Applicants are asked to attach to the loan application documentation of their computer cost (such as a printed cost sheet or estimate). In order for the computer loan proceeds to be disbursed, all other University charges (tuition, fees, etc.) for the semester must be paid or payment arrangements with the Office of the Bursar must be made. Students may reapply in subsequent years for a computer loan if they have advanced to a new degree level (from a bachelor's degree program to a master's program, for example) otherwise, a student may receive only one computer loan. Students may apply for the Lew Wentz Computer Loan in addition to the Lew Wentz Merit Loan. An aggregate maximum of $5,000 per student borrower has been established for the Lew Wentz Computer Loan. This is separate from the $20,000 aggregate available through the Lew Wentz Merit Loan (for students who borrow from both loan programs). The annual interest rate is five (5) percent and interest accrues on the principal while the student is in school. An annual interest payment is required and due by July 1 each year the loan is outstanding.

AWARD AND DISBURSEMENT PROCESS

Disbursement Process: Once the student has received the online award letter (OU-FAN) and accepted the loan that is offered, there are additional steps which are necessary to obtain the loan disbursement(s):

The borrower will access and print a pre-loan interview form from his or her online award letter. This form will gather information about the borrower and co-signer. For the first disbursement of each school year, submit the completed pre-loan interview form to the Bursar's Office no earlier than the week before classes begin. The Bursar's Office will prepare a loan note to be signed by the borrower and co-signer in the presence of a notary. The borrower must return the completed loan note and co-signer information sheet to the Bursar's Office. You must report in person to the Bursar's Office each semester for disbursement. You must reapply for the loan each year.
